DIRECT?

Don't go direct. If you think that the shortest direct flights are the cheapest - you'd be wrong! Taking a little bit of an alternative route is almost always best and cheapest unless you are lucky and chance upon a sale;

TIMING

Book early, but not too early.

Research shows that booking 80 days before your travel is the sweet spot for getting cheap flights. So try to book sometime around here, and you may get the best deals;

TRAVEL DATES

Remember to check your arrival and departure dates when booking. Our participants arrive on the 1st of each month and depart on the 28th of the month.

If you require to stay longer at either the front end or back end of your program, then you do need to pay a small nightly stipend to cover your additional board and meals

IGNORE ADDONS

When booking, ignore the 'add-ons' offerings. Your travel insurance will already cover you, and the likelihood of getting 'horrible seating neighbours' is equally likely no matter where you sit on the plane.

AGGREGATORS

Use a flight aggregator platform. These are platforms established to find you the most suitable flights based on your requirements - times, prices, flexibility etc. The best of these is 'Travelstart'. I am in love with this site. It is a South African company, but has a user-friendly interface and finds you the best deals on offer. The arrival and departure airports you are looking for are George airport for Mossel Bay and King Shaka airport
